

MISSION STATEMENT

Fabdec is renowned for its application of leading technologies in the design and manufacture of superior stainless steel heat transfer products for the dairy, brewing, process and water heating industries.

Our reputation is built through having a positive impact on people's lives by using our core strengths of engineering, manufacturing and thermal transfer know-how to offer pioneering innovative solutions that sustain the environment and having a first class after-sales service which includes a full range of spares and consumables which we supply throughout the world.

We develop a deep understanding and long-term relationship with both existing and new strategic partners and we are committed to consistently exceeding customers' expectations.

Creating a culture in which there is a deep sense of pride and ownership in achieving both company goals and personal aspirations has reinforced our achievements. Our culture has a strong commitment to outstanding teamwork, continuous personal development, result based reward opportunities and reinvestment in new technology and processes.
