

MISSION STATEMENT

Fabdec is renowned for its application of leading technologies in the design & manufacture of superior stainless steel heat transfer products for the dairy, brewing, process & water heating industries.

Our reputation is built through having a positive impact on people's lives by using our core strengths of engineering, manufacturing & thermal transfer know-how to offer pioneering innovative solutions that sustain the environment and a first class after sales service which includes a full range of spares & consumables which we supply throughout the world.

We develop a deep understanding and long-term relationship with both existing and new strategic partners and are committed to consistently exceeding customers' expectations.

Creating a culture in which there is a deep sense of pride and ownership in achieving both company goals and personal aspirations has reinforced our achievements. Our culture has a strong commitment to outstanding teamwork, continuous personal development, result based reward opportunities and reinvestment in new technology & processes.